DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Aida et al.

The patent to Aida et al. discloses a gaming machine comprising variable display means or a plurality of rotatable reels R1, R2, R3 for variably displaying a plurality of patterns, and front side display means 21, 22, 23 arranged in front of the reels, page 4, paragraph [0063]. The front side display means is configured so as to stack a plurality of liquid crystal panel-shaped displays, page 4, paragraphs [0066] – [0067] and pages 11-12 paragraph [0153]. The liquid crystal panel-shaped display comprises an opening NM which allows the patterns of the variable display means to be seen therethrough, Fig. 3, and see page 4, paragraph [0068] – [0069]. A CPU 31 determines whether a prize winning combination has occurred, pages 7-8, paragraphs [0107] – [0108]. Stop buttons 7a, 7b, 7c stops the variable display of the variable display means, page 8, paragraphs [0109] – [0112]. A game media disbursement means disburses game media BB when a stop mode of the variable display means stopped by the stop control means conforms with a predetermine stop mode, page 10, paragraph [0134].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Aida et al. as applied to claim 5 above, and further in view of Ozaki et al.

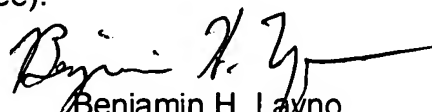

The patent to Ozaki et al. discloses a gaming machine comprising variable display means having rotatable reels 2, and front side display means configured so as to stack a plurality of panel shaped displays 24, 25, Fig. 28. The stack of panel shaped displays include a liquid crystal panel display 24 and a reflecting plate 25. The reflecting plate helps diffuse light from light source 26 in order to more clearly illuminate the symbols in the liquid crystal panel display 24. In view of such teaching, it would have been obvious to incorporate a reflecting plate to the back of Aida's liquid crystal panel display 21, 22, 23 in order to more clearly illuminate the symbols in the liquid crystal panel display.

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Loose et al., Manship et al., and Takeuchi et al. all disclose slot machines having rotatable reels, and panel display members mounted in front of the reels.
